PROCEEDINGS 1 2 COURTROOM DEPUTY: All rise. 3 This Court is in session; the Honorable Amit P. 4 Mehta presiding. 5 THE COURT: Please be seated, everyone. 6 COURTROOM DEPUTY: Your Honor, this is Criminal 7 Case No. 22-15, the United States of America versus 8 Defendant No. 1, Elmer Stewart Rhodes; Defendant No. 2, Kelly Meggs; Defendant No. 3, Kenneth Harrelson; Defendant 10 4, Jessica Watkins; Defendant 6, Roberto A. Minuta; 11 Defendant 7, Joseph Hackett; Defendant 8, David Moerschel; 12 Defendant 9, Brian Ulrich; Defendant 10, Thomas Edward 13 Caldwell; and Defendant 11, Edward Vallejo. 14 James Bright and Phillip Linder for Defendant 15 Rhodes. 16 Jonathan Moseley for Defendant Meggs. 17 Bradford Geyer for Defendant Harrelson. 18 Jonathan Crisp for Defendant Watkins. 19 Alfred Guillaume for Defendant Minuta. 20 Angela Halim for Defendant Hackett. 2.1 Scott Weinberg for Defendant Moerschel. 2.2. A.J. Balbo for Defendant Ulrich. 23 David Fischer for Defendant Caldwell. 24 And Matthew Peed for defendant Vallejo. 25 Defendants Kelly Meggs, Harrelson, and Watkins are appearing in court, in person for this hearing. 1 2 Defendant Rhodes, Minuta, Hackett, Moerschel, 3 Ulrich, and Caldwell are appearing via videoconference or 4 teleconference. 5 And Edward Vallejo is not present for these 6 proceedings. 7 THE COURT: Okay. Good afternoon again, 8 everybody. 9 All right. We're back here for a status 10 conference to see where things are and how we're going to 11 proceed. 12 Let me ask Mr. Peed. Your client is not present. 13 Let me ask whether you either waive his presence for the 14 purposes of the hearing or we can obviously do this for him once we're able to connect him to our hearing today. 15 16 MR. PEED: I haven't been able to speak with him, 17 Your Honor, so I don't want to waive his presence for the 18 hearing. I mean, I would like to be here and listen in, 19 Your Honor, but I would wouldn't want to waive his 20 appearance. 21 THE COURT: All right. 22 Well, let's do this. I mean, let's go forward, 23 you're here, and then we can reschedule something for 24 Mr. Vallejo to ensure that he has heard everything that gets 25 discussed here this afternoon.

So let's start, if we will, with just a Okay. quick update from Ms. Rakoczy on the status of discovery, and particularly the case-specific discovery and whether there's more to push out to these defendants. MS. RAKOCZY: Yes, Your Honor. Thank you. The government is concluding the case-specific discovery process. The government, since we last met, has produced some additional FBI reports that relate to the investigation, some additional search warrant returns from digital devices that the government has scoped and tagged that discovery, which it is seizing pursuant to attachment B of the warrants and we've produced those versions of digital discovery to the defense. We do have a few small remaining number of outstanding devices to complete that process for the charged defendants. There are two devices from Defendant Beeks, who is in the related case of 21-CR-28. And there were a few devices seized at the time of the arrest of Mr. Rhodes that remain -- that need to be processed still as well. that's the status of the electronic discovery. There are also --THE COURT: Ms. Rakoczy --

MS. RAKOCZY: -- a handful of --

THE COURT: Ms. Rakoczy, can I interrupt you for a moment?

THE COURT: Mr. Rhodes' devices, I suspect, folks are anxious to get their hands on those. Do you have a time estimate as to when that material might become available?

MS. RAKOCZY: I do not, Your Honor, because the devices need to go through a filter process before they can be reviewed by the government. I anticipate that that means it will still be a few weeks before that process is complete.

I would note that Mr. Rhodes' cellular telephone was processed -- seized pursuant to a search warrant, searched, and processed back in May of last year. And a significant portion of that data has been made available, but the remainder of that data will be made available, hopefully, next week to the defense.

And that is a significant device. These were some remaining devices that had not been searched that were seized pursuant to a warrant at the time of the arrest, as well as Mr. Rhodes' personal cell phone device, which will be searched again. But, as I said, that had previously been searched from May 3rd backwards, and so there should not be a great deal of new information from that device.

THE COURT: Got you. Okay.

All right. I interrupted you. Why don't you go ahead and continue, please.

MS. RAKOCZY: Yes, Your Honor.

There are a handful of electronic devices and accounts that were seized and searched, either pursuant to consent or search warrant, from uncharged subjects of this investigation or witnesses to this investigation that we will be providing, hopefully, within the next week or two as well.

And then we're in the process of completing review of FBI case files for subjects — for uncharged subjects of this investigation, as well as civilian witness Jencks—type materials, whether they be memoranda or recorded interviews, transcripts of interviews or transcripts of grand jury testimony that we hope to provide either late next week or early the following week to the defense.

There are probably a very small handful of civilian witness statements that will not be included in that production because they either were obtained recently and need to be reviewed or there are overriding concerns stemming from the pending investigation or security concerns that will cause us to hold back just a very small number of those for a short additional period of time.

But the bulk of the materials that would be considered civilian witness Jencks materials for these trials, whether for witnesses who will testify or for witnesses who would either potentially be relevant for the defense or just generally relevant, we hope to provide within the next two to three weeks, which we hope will greatly facilitate the preparation of the defense for trial in these matters.

And then aside from that, there are just a few fall discovery odds and ends. But I do think that we are on track to wrap up the case-specific discovery within the next few weeks, with the exception of some of the devices that are taking a little bit longer, because of the filter process and technological issues, and anything that — any interviews that might still be being conducted. As the ongoing investigation wraps up, obviously we will provide those on a rolling basis.

THE COURT: Okay. That's a helpful overview of where things stand.

And then in terms of the databases, my understanding is that both of them are up. Evidence.com has been available for some weeks, and, in fact, may be available directly to some of the detained defendants from — at least at the D.C. jail. And then Relativity is online and available to defense counsel who have obtained licenses.

In terms of the -- and obviously I understand it's an ongoing process to the extent new evidence is being collected, but do you have a sense of how -- or where that process is in terms of populating that database? 2 MS. RAKOCZY: Your Honor, we filed a status report 3 in this case and the related cases a couple of weeks ago 4 that goes into far greater detail --5 THE COURT: Right. 6 MS. RAKOCZY: -- and was -- the material there was 7 authored by individuals with far greater knowledge than 8 myself. 9 I think the most significant update is that 10 there -- I think the two main buckets of discovery that, 11 I think, everyone is eager to be able to review are scoped 12 data from electronic devices and social media accounts or 13 email accounts, electronic accounts, from all of the 14 defendants in these matters, and then the FBI investigative 15 files and any memoranda of interviews or other significant 16 information in evidence from all of these defendants who are 17 charged throughout the Capitol breach cases. 18 And those two buckets of data are currently being 19 processed, reviewed, and uploaded to the two platforms. 20 I hope -- I don't have a timeline for that, but my sense is 21 that that is data that's actively being reviewed and 2.2. processed and fed into the platforms currently. 23 And so I do think that within -- over the course 24 of the next month or two, I think a good chunk of that information will be made available and should be reviewable.

And so we are hopeful that with respect to these trials and these matters, obviously the first one is now set to begin in July, on July 11th. We are hopeful that that information will be accessible well before that date and with enough time for the defense counsel to review that data and to prepare for trial.

I would also note that the government on this team is also working to review that data to flag for the defense things that might be particularly relevant to this case.

And we've been doing that throughout. And we will continue to do so in the next few weeks in the hopes of aiding that review, because obviously we are aware that a lot of that data is contained in that — in these platforms.

THE COURT: Just one point of clarification.

I thought I heard you say that the scoped data from devices from the defendants in this matter is still awaiting uploading into Relativity.

Did I hear that correctly when you said "these defendants," as in the defendants in this case, or do you mean more broadly for January 6th defendants collectively?

MS. RAKOCZY: I meant more broadly.

THE COURT: Okay.

So the scope -- to the extent data has been scoped for defendants in this case, that's already been provided, other than some of the devices that you described earlier?

MS. RAKOCZY: Correct, Your Honor.

There are only a handful of devices for the defendants in these cases, both this case and the related cases before Your Honor, that have not been provided to defense counsel in this case.

Those devices will also be made available to all of the defense attorneys in all 750-plus cases. And then the devices of those defendants will, in turn, be made available to the defense attorneys in this case, and that's the purpose of having these discovery platforms in the global discovery process.

THE COURT: Okay.

2.2.

All right. That's helpful. Thank you.

All right. So what I'd like to do from here is let's talk about trial schedule. And then I'll turn to each defense counsel to hear if they want to add anything. And then I've got some individual issues with some individual defendants that I want to raise.

So we currently have a trial date, an initial trial date in this matter, set for July 12th -- excuse me, July 11th. And then I think we've reserved, if memory serves, a second trial date in October. Am I recalling that correctly?

MS. RAKOCZY: I believe, September --

MR. LINDER: September 26th, Your Honor.

September 26th. 1 THE COURT: Okay. 2 So, Ms. Rakoczy, either the government's thoughts 3 or whatever thoughts you may have in connection with also 4 discussing the case is the case with various defense 5 counsel. 6 What are your thoughts on that first trial and who 7 might be in it? At least recognizing right now, I think we 8 have nine defendants. And I am uncertain as to what our capacity limits are going to be, and I don't think we're 9 10 going to be able to try all nine defendants at once. 11 MS. RAKOCZY: We do understand that, Your Honor. 12 Nine defendants would be lot, although -- potentially not 1.3 undoable. We have 10 defendants, actually, Your Honor, at 14 this time. 15 THE COURT: Right. Okay. 16 MS. RAKOCZY: But either way, both is a 17 significant number. 18 I think from the government's perspective, because 19 of the fact that the situation with the ongoing pandemic is 20 a little bit in flux right now and I think that the 21 marshal's and the Court's protocols for how many defendants 2.2. might be reasonable to place in one trial may be a little 23 bit evolving, and because we are in active negotiations and discussions with some defendants about their thoughts on whether they would like to resolve this case short of trial, it would be our hope that we postpone selecting the jury trial groupings between July and September until a status hearing in, say, 30 days from today. We think that that would be productive and would allow the Court to make a more informed decision about whom to place in which trial groupings, and the government certainly as well, that would be our request, that we could have about 30 days, 30 to 45 days, to see where we are, both in terms of the pandemic and the number of defendants that is the ceiling for one trial, and also so we can have a better sense of, frankly, how many defendants we are likely to have.

(Telephone beeping)

2.2.

THE COURT: I don't know. That's happened a few times.

Sorry about that, everybody; I hope your ears were not shattered. I noticed Mr. Fischer jumped back, so I'm particularly concerned about him.

Okay. Well, that -- look, I gathered that would be the answer today. I will say the following, which is, I'm happy to put this out 30 days. That'll bring us to early April. That'll put us about 60 days out -- I'm sorry, 90 days from the trial.

But I do expect that at that point, we're going to have to decide who's going to be in that trial or not. And that's not meant to suggest to any defendant whether you ought to resolve this case or not; that's entirely up to you 2 obviously. But at some point, we're going to need to make a decision about who's going to be in that first group. 3 4 In the interim, I've been making inquiries about 5 whether we can reserve our Ceremonial Courtroom for the 6 length of the trial, which would enable us to -- am I 7 getting --8 COURTROOM DEPUTY: We don't know yet. 9 THE COURT: We don't know yet. 10 We'll have an answer on that question, hopefully, 11 in short order. 12 But if we did hold the trial in the Ceremonial 1.3 Courtroom, it would enable us to expand the number of 14 defendants that could be tried at one time, and we'll get 15 that information to you all as soon as we have it available 16 to us. 17 MS. RAKOCZY: Your Honor, I apologize for 18 interrupting, but I was told that the public line may have 19 cut out. 20 (Pause) 21 COURTROOM DEPUTY: Your Honor, I believe it's now 2.2. reconnected. 23 THE COURT: It's now reconnected. Okay. 24 I don't know when it was disconnected, but I'll 25 just repeat what I said for the benefit of anybody that may be listening, and that is:

It is my expectation that by the time we are together next in early April, that we'll have to make a decision about who will be in that first trial. None of that is meant to pressure any defendant or to suggest to any defendant that they need to enter a plea before that date; that's a decision left between each defendant, their counsel, and the government. But this is just, frankly, as an administrative matter, we need to make a determination as to who's going to go in July and how many people are going to go in July and do that in short order. Okay.

Next thing on my list is to turn to the defense counsel.

And is there anything else from the government before I do that?

MS. RAKOCZY: No, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: All right.

And as we go down the list, I'd like each counsel to just let me know or confirm that you have -- now have access to both databases, which would mean you have your license in hand both for Evidence.com and Relativity.com.

If I remember correctly, at the last hearing, there were a few who did not have access to Evidence.com, and a greater number who were still working to get access to Relativity. So if, in your presentations, you would just address those two inquiries.

So why don't we start with Mr. Bright and Mr. Linder on behalf of Mr. Rhodes.

MR. LINDER: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: And if I can just -- and obviously bring up anything else you'd like. It's not just limited to those two subjects.

MR. LINDER: Sure. Thank you.

As far as Relativity, we have not been able to get our license yet. And there are some other defense counsel, when you get to them, that will say they've had issues getting on to that also. We -- yeah, it's just been difficult trying to get access to that.

Now, Ms. Rakoczy is providing us all the discovery she can, but we don't have access to that platform.

As she mentioned, there's still devices that our client hasn't run yet. So we've got issues with the time of how — if we think we're going to be ready in July or not;

I know we're going to push to do that. But not having access to this platform yet has been kind of a burden.

And we are bringing an associate to start Monday to just work on -- Mr. Bright and I are -- to work just on this case. So hopefully that can resolve itself sooner rather than later. But we're kind of in that kind of quandary right now.

So, Mr. Linder, when you say you've THE COURT: not yet received your license, have you applied for it and it's in somebody else's hands or have you not put in an application yet? MR. LINDER: No. I believe our paralegal put in an application, it just hasn't made its way all through the process yet. And you'll hear from other defense counsel here who've had the same issue. THE COURT: Okay. MR. LINDER: I think a couple others who have the same issue. THE COURT: All right. And this is just for my own information, because what I plan to do after this is collect all the names of counsel who have not yet received their licenses and make an inquiry to figure out what the status of that is and get back to you all. So have both you and Mr. Linder -- I'm sorry, you and Mr. Bright applied separately for licenses? MR. LINDER: Just my paralegal, Your Honor. THE COURT: Just your paralegal. MR. LINDER: We work in the same office suite. THE COURT: Okay. MR. BRIGHT: Despite the appearance, Your Honor,

Mr. Linder and I are actually about 30 feet apart right now. 2 THE COURT: Okay. 3 It may be helpful, as we go through this, and I'm 4 asking for the information now, for those of you who do not 5 have your licenses to just email my Courtroom Deputy as to 6 whose name the license was put in. I'm not going to 7 necessarily assume the license was applied for and in the 8 name of counsel; it's possible it may be the law firm or 9 only the paralegal. But in any event, if you would just 10 email the name of the license application it went in on, 11 that way we can specify exactly which licenses are still 12 outstanding and get that information. 1.3 Okay. Anything else you want to add, Mr. Linder? 14 MR. LINDER: Not on that issue, Your Honor. THE COURT: Okay. 15 16 Anything else other than the platform issue? 17 MR. LINDER: No. 18 Just the timing, the scheduling. But I think your 19 desire and Ms. Rakoczy's desire to kind of address that in a 20 month would work. 21 I know that the defense -- the group here, we talk 2.2. frequently, and there are some of us who have concerns about 23 being able to really be ready by July 11th, being that we 24 still have, as Ms. Rakoczy has informed this Court -- it may be another month before we even have the rest of the evidence, and that's put us near April, and that's only 2 90 days out from the trial. And we don't know, once we 3 review that, then which witnesses we're going to have to go 4 out and talk to. 5 In addition, most of us would like to have our own 6 clients' devices run by our own experts before the trial, 7 and I think we have that right. And so once the government 8 finished doing that, we need them back and be able to run them. 10 So there's just some timing issues, but 11 I understand the Court would like to wait a month, so that 12 doesn't bother me in the least. 1.3 THE COURT: Okay. 14 Let me just say this now, which is that if this --15 at least the first phase of this case doesn't get tried in 16 July, it's not going to be tried for a while. 17 You know, as a result of these prosecutions and 18 other trials, there is, on my calendar, nothing available 19 for a four-week trial until December. 20 MR. LINDER: Well, we've got the September --21 THE COURT: So there's -- I should qualify that to 22 say that I've got the October -- I mean, the September 23 dates, those are set aside. 24 MR. LINDER: Right. 25 THE COURT: But other than those dates, there's nothing available for a four-week trial until December at 2 the earliest. 3 MR. LINDER: I understand. 4 MR. BRIGHT: If I can confer, discussions that 5 Mr. Linder and I have had with the others, based on the 6 timeline that the government has laid out and everything 7 Mr. Linder has mentioned, I don't see for us why the 8 September 26th date wouldn't be -- would be a problem. I think those two extra months, those extra 60, roughly a 10 bit more than that, days would be more than sufficient for 11 us. 12 THE COURT: Okay. 13 And, look, I am -- I'll just tell you. I am more 14 sensitive to the concern for counsel for Mr. Rhodes and 15 Mr. Vallejo, who've been in this case for far less time than 16 I appreciate also that even the others have not the others. 17 had access to all the evidence and it's been a rolling 18 production and taken some time. But, you know, the other 19 defendants who were in the Caldwell case have certainly had 20 a head start. So I'm just making that observation. 21 Okay. Let me turn next to Mr. Moseley on behalf 2.2. of Mr. Meggs. MR. MOSELEY: Well, on the scheduling issue, 23 24 I know that it's his personal desire not to delay, but 25 I can't disagree with the analysis that others have.

I think his vote as an individual would be to go to trial as soon as possible, but the concerns that we have are the same.

I am personally focused, I think, on wanting to try to streamline and solve any problems we have that are causing the delay, rather than focus just on a date, so that we don't end up where there's more — you know, the problem doesn't get fixed or things like that. But I think we did have a good discussion about this, and like it or not, that may be the right way to look at it.

If I can make just a -- two tiny little things.

We do have our request for Mr. Meggs' iPhones back and other things. Some things were delivered, but it's been 10 months. I think it would be, I think, good preparation for everybody, as, Mr. Linder, I think, mentioned, that instead of going through the filter of all this processing and everything, if we can look at his Signal chats and text messages and everything else directly, that would be a great benefit to our trial preparation, rather than waiting for it to come through this rather busy pipeline through the phone. So we do have outstanding requests for that back up for ten months, and I think a lot of other people do, too.

THE COURT: So, Ms. Rakoczy, let me ask. I mean, to the extent that individual counsel have requested access to the data on their clients' phones or other devices, is the government prepared to simply, you know, image those devices and turn that over wholesale so that defense counsel doesn't have to wait for the filter process and the scoping process? I mean, that doesn't seem like an unreasonable demand -- or request.

MS. RAKOCZY: Your Honor, the government provided the complete, unfiltered, unscoped forensic extraction from all the defendants' cell phones to the defendants very early on and basically as soon as the devices were processed.

So for some of the defendants arrested early on,
I believe there were production in June and July of that data. And then as defendants were arrested later, we've been trying to provide those on a rolling basis to defendants who've been arrested later. And so in terms of having that data, I believe the defense has that.

THE COURT: Okay.

2.2.

MS. RAKOCZY: In terms of the actual physical devices themselves, we have turned over -- we've turned back a number of devices that we've been requested to return. With respect to the cellular telephones from which we have derived significant evidence, we have to date asked to retain those devices because of the potential need to either reprocess, in the event that there have been technological advancements that would help us to extract data that wasn't previously extractable, or to maintain our ability to, without any challenges, introduce the evidence from these devices and make sure we can properly authentic them at the time of trial.

THE COURT: Okay.

Look, I mean, I think it's -- let me sort of make two observations; one is, it certainly makes sense to me that the government would want to hold on to the actual physical device for chain-of-evidence purposes and the like. At the same time, the government certainly has the capability of imaging those devices and turning them over to defense counsel. And it sounds like most of you should have those, perhaps with the exception of Mr. Vallejo and Mr. Rhodes' counsel.

If the request is to actually have the physical device and mirror that device, you know, that's something you're going to have to negotiate with the government; and if I need to get involved, I'll get involved.

But I don't think it's -- it's not the least bit unusual, it seems to me, to mirror any seized device and for defense to operate off of the mirrored -- what's been mirrored, as opposed to the actual device itself, and it makes a lot of sense, for a whole host of reasons, to do it that way.

MR. LINDER: Your Honor, may I speak on behalf of Mr. Rhodes on this issue?

THE COURT: Sure.

2.2.

MR. LINDER: When we -- and I've done a lot of these, as most of these lawyers have, where you have this cell phone data.

When this case is primarily being prosecuted based on communications of my client, Mr. Rhodes, with these other co-defendants via instant messaging, text, whatever, all from his phone, it makes sense for us to be able to have it back to do our own analysis of it, have our expert do that, and for us to be able to -- and we would stipulate to a chain of custody and return the phone after we did -- we don't have any problems doing that. But when that is the bulk -- that's the government's case against my client, is his communications with his co-conspirators or co-defendants or whatever you want to call them, everybody here.

So I think we need the device back, we need to be able to have it analyzed, I need to go have my client look at it, rather than a stack of paper from a cell drag report, and him to tell me, I used this here, this here. And if — can I have a real—time communication timeline from his phone, that you can't see that when you're looking at paper records. It's a lot more effective to have the device, to go through that with my client, than look at a stack of papers.

THE COURT: Well --

MR. MOSELEY: Your Honor? 1 2 THE COURT: Hang on. 3 You know, I don't understand the government to 4 have produced to you a stack of papers. I understand 5 they've produced to you a mirror image of what is contained 6 on the device; in other words, it should be -- I may be 7 mistaken, but that's what I understood Ms. Rakoczy to suggest, is that there was a mirror image of the device 8 9 provided to most defense counsel, other than, perhaps, you, 10 at this point, Mr. Linder and Mr. Peed. 11 MR. LINDER: I've never -- maybe I'm confused. 12 Mr. Peed and I have talked about Cellebrite 13 before. It's been mirroring phones for the government. 14 The Cellebrite reports are downloadable paper 15 stuff of what's contained on the phone. I've never received 16 a mirror-copied phone that I could use that looks like my 17 client's phone. If somebody is going to give me that, 18 that's great. I need to be able -- I could have a phone 19 that I could go with my client, he could have the apps on 20 it, the messages, and all the stuff, and we could go through 2.1 it. 22 If the government wants to give me another phone, 23 that's great, but I mean, I need a device or I think my 24 client has a right to have a device or his device or one

that's a mirrored copy of that that we could use to go through. 1 2 MR. MOSELEY: Your Honor --3 THE COURT: Hang on for a second. Ms. Rakoczy, could you just help clarify for me 4 5 what's been provided? 6 It wasn't my expectation that you would sort of 7 take a blank phone and put all the data on a blank phone. 8 But I would have thought you were saying is that, on a hard drive, essentially the data that was on the phone was put on 10 to a hard drive and that you could then access that data in 11 that manner? 12 MS. RAKOCZY: I am far from a technical expert, 1.3 Your Honor. But what has been produced are the data that 14 was forensically extracted from the phone in a file that's 15 called a UFDR file. That file is readable through a program 16 called Cellebrite, so we also provided a copy of that 17 software to the defense, and that's the way that they're 18 reviewing it. 19 I believe that a defense technical expert could do 20 whatever they'd like to do with that UFDR report, whether 21 they want to look at it in Cellebrite or produce it in some 2.2. other fashion. 23 But I am relatively confident that if for some 24 reason the UFDR production is something that's one step away 25 from an exact mirrored forensic image, I'm confident it was produced from such a thing and that such a thing also exists in the FBI CART holdings, and could also be produced to the defense.

But I thought that the UFDR file was essentially a forensic mirrored or extraction, it's just a version that is readable in a program called Cellebrite.

THE COURT: Okay.

All right. Well, look, I guess the bottom line is that I will leave it all to you to sort this out. It's helpful to have the issue highlighted. But, you know, if — hopefully, it's something you all can get resolved in short order and certainly by the next status conference.

All right. Mr. Moseley, anything else you'd like to add before I turn to Mr. Geyer?

MR. MOSELEY: Well, other than -- it's probably -- this is getting into the weeds and this is probably premature, because I do think we do have to brief it and we're trying to diagnose and list all the concerns.

But the main issue at present is that we don't have the ability -- and, again, I'm trying to emphasize that I blame software salesmen for the government on this. But if we don't have the ability to go in and look and say, this file is what I want to look at, as opposed to downloading a gigantic folder, then trying to uncompress it, then we find there are transmission errors over the Internet, and it's not openable.

2.2.

And it's not something where if I'm home I can say, okay, here's the data I want to look at direct to that file or that message. It's not comparable.

And we will brief -- you know, I think we briefed the Court on some of those things. As I said, I don't want to end up at any arbitrary trial date and say, oops, we're still not ready. So I do think we will need to brief them.

But I just want to comment that it's not like we can go to a computer and say, this file interests me, I want to just open that file. It's not coming through like that.

THE COURT: All right.

Well, if you want to brief something, you need to do it soon. I mean, I just -- you know, it's a little bit of a surprise to me that, at least with respect to those defendants who have received the kind of data that

Ms. Rakoczy has described, that we haven't worked through these issues sooner.

I understand there's still more devices, et cetera. But for those of you who have had this data for some number of months, you know, this is something that you should have raised with me sooner or raised with Ms. Rakoczy sooner. Maybe you have and it's only coming to my attention for the first time, but be that as it may.

Ms. Rakoczy, can you tell me what your current access is to Evidence.com and Relativity, whether you've 2 secured licenses from both platforms? 3 MR. MOSELEY: We have Evidence.com, and I believe 4 that Kelly Meggs and others are looking at it even in the 5 CTF, the D.C. jail, and that we're producing some good 6 results. 7 I'm not -- I think that I had sent in a Relativity 8 application. I'm going to redo that just to make sure. And 9 it strikes me, but I'm not sure I see it in my sent folder. 10 So I will do that again, but I've been focused mostly on that and trying to absorb that. 11 12 THE COURT: Okay. 13 If you haven't put your license request in, please 14 do so. I mean, I just -- I'm not going to be sympathetic to 15 pleas for more time because you haven't had access to the 16 database because you haven't put your request in for a 17 license. I'm just not. I mean --18 MR. MOSELEY: Right, but I have to exploit what 19 I've got and analyze this too and then turn to the next 20 extraction. 21 THE COURT: No. I understand that. I understand 2.2. that. But the first step is getting the license. 23 Okay. Mr. Geyer on behalf of Mr. Harrelson. 24 MR. GEYER: Yes, good afternoon, Your Honor. 25 I'm on both Relativity and Evidence.com. Both seem to be operating satisfactorily.

There's an issue with -- well, I mean, it all has to be populated, but assuming it gets populated in a reasonable amount of time, it seems like it's somewhat functional.

The way that the -- and I don't want to get out in front of Ms. Rakoczy, because I mentioned this yesterday about the names of the officers are deleted. So when you're listening to tape recordings of interviews of officers, you just can't even make heads or tails out of it. It's a big mess. It's hard to know what your point of reference is, it's hard to know whether a whited-out reference refers to a new character that's introduced to the story or an old one. It's really unworkable.

And this is really important for the defense, because, as we all know, based on the investigations that were done, there were police officers who were inviting participants into restricted areas. This is well-documented. And unfortunately, a lot of this I didn't find from the government submissions, I had to go and hunt to find it and have people in the public, members of the public, bring it to my attention.

For instance, in the front of the east steps, there's an officer that has a very loud conversation, bellowing it out to the entire group that's clustered in front of the front steps, saying that he's going to check with his supervisors to see about getting permission to let everybody up on the front steps. And then Pastor Bill takes his bullhorn and he bellows it out to the entire other crowd. And then another pastor, another plant, bellows that out all over the crowd.

We have full facial scans of these people. For some reason, no one even knows they exist. The government doesn't have any interest in who they might be. So the problem is we have plenty of time so long as the government is going to help me get the information about who it was that pre-texted, escorted, ushered by clients out of the steps and then set up an ambush in front of the Columbus door, and had the doors open from the inside. They're well-aware of this.

And I apologize that this is just coming to my attention. I learned about this the night before, the eve of a detention hearing, where the French videos, which remains under seal, with full facial scans of people who are extraordinarily culpable, doing all kinds of things that are clearly illegal, from breaching barriers —

THE COURT: So, let me, if I could interrupt you, Mr. Geyer.

I mean, look, I think the -- I'm not sure what the ask is here, other than, you know, you're demanding

     it, you'll have to let me know that, okay?
 3
               MR. GEYER:
                           Yes.
 4
               And, by the way, in fairness to the government, 5
     I only just started to bring this to their attention in an 6 effort to confer. I don't know what their position is. For 7
     all I know, they're going to give me a blank check and help 8 me identify these people so we can get them in to be 10

               But, you know, so long as we get assistance with the -- in the other attorneys who were recent newcomers to the game here. I've only been in about 30 days, give or take. But other than that, we have had a chance and we did, in fact, have an opportunity to tour the Capitol recently as well.

At this point, we do have what I believe to be are

At this point, we do have what I believe to be are mirror-image copies of the devices, and I'm confirming that with my internal IT guy. Right now, things are, from a recent entry, progressing, and I'm comfortable with where things are at this point.

But I don't know if I would want to request a July or September, but that doesn't seem like an issue we need to address at the present moment. So thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Crisp.

Mr. Guillaume on behalf of Mr. Minuta.

MR. GUILLAUME: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

I have access to Evidence.com, and I'm just waiting on a confirmation. I have received an indication that they've received my application for license for Relativity. And I need to, apparently, just file some more — send a return email and then I'll be on that in a matter of days or no time at all.

Your Honor, just with respect to the scheduling,
I would echo some of the other comments, in particular,
Mr. Rhodes' attorney, with respect to my client and the potential trial date. Although we are working diligently to be prepared for July, you know, if the Court were to decide to hold this case or at least have Mr. Minuta as part of this case in September, we obviously would not object to that. With that being said, we are working diligently toward the July date, and I guess we'll kind of cross that bridge when we come to it.

As far as just something else, Your Honor,

I wanted to flag for the Court, and maybe this is a conversation better had for the next call, but some of the attorneys were talking with respect to whenever we do have the trial, the potential — and the Court probably does not have answers to this now — to have paralegals and/or other assistants in court with the defense team and how that will look. And I know Your Honor probably doesn't have any specific input now, but it's an issue that we've been discussing and I think one that I would be requesting on behalf of my client, we're going to need to have some paralegal either in the courtroom or readily accessible during trial.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. GUILLAUME: So that --

THE COURT: I would have anticipated that,

Mr. Guillaume. And that'll be one of the things that we'll be looking into in determining sort of our max capacity, if we can get that Ceremonial Courtroom for the time that we need it, because I understand that all of you may not have the facility with trial software and the like that you can operate those things individually.

So it wouldn't surprise me for there to be paralegals, although, you know, and maybe you've thought about this already, but to the extent that you can share a paralegal or two to operate whatever trial software that you want to use, that might limit, reduce the number of people that we have in the courtroom.

MR. GUILLAUME: Yes. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right.

1.3

2.2.

Ms. Halim on behalf of Mr. Hackett?

MS. HALIM: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

I have had access to Evidence.com for several months now. I'll be candid with the Court, I did not find it useful. I myself was not able to find an efficient way to review the massive quantity of digital evidence that's on Evidence.com; it's mostly the videos.

I spoke with Ms. Rakoczy some bit ago, and she informed me that all of the material that is on Evidence.com will be on Relativity. So I sort of abandoned Evidence.com because it was unworkable, as it wasn't searchable; there was no easy way to find relevant videos beyond just clicking and playing massive files.

THE COURT: I'm sorry to interrupt you.

Maybe -- that's different than my understanding of how this is set up. I thought all the video evidence would only be on Evidence.com. Is that -- because I understood that Relativity was not a platform that could maintain all of the video evidence. Am I mistaken about that?

MS. HALIM: Perhaps I'm mistaken. I was of the understanding that Relativity was going to encompass both he video as well as the global discovery production.

And that leads me to my second point, which is that I have had some trouble getting my Relativity license. I escalated this week with both the contacts at the Defenders, as well as individuals at Deloitte. So as of this morning, I was provided my log-in credentials but I've not had yet had the opportunity to go in and make sure that it works. So I haven't used Relativity yet, but I do have log-in credentials now and a license.

And perhaps if Ms. Rakoczy or someone else could clarify, I was under the impression that I was going to be able to view sort of everything on Relativity, a one-stop shopping, so to speak.

MS. RAKOCZY: Your Honor, if I may, I think ——
I apologize if I confused Ms. Halim. But I don't think that's right, that everything on Evidence.com will be on Relativity.

2.2.

I think the bulk of what is on Evidence.com and exclusively on Evidence.com is body-worn camera footage and Capitol surveillance footage, and that I do not believe will be accessible on Relativity.

I do believe that the scoped devices, I believe that the entirety of that data will be available on Relativity, including some video and image files, because I think there's just less of it than in the mass amount of body-worn camera footage and Capitol surveillance footage and other large bodies of video.

So a lot of the data that would be most easily digestible by searching through a tool like Relativity will be available on Relativity. But I do not think that things like the Capitol surveillance video or the body-worn camera footage will be available through Relativity. I think we've attempted to provide tools to help sort through that data on Evidence.com and we're happy certainly to work on this team of attorneys to try to help the defense in identifying relevant items on Evidence.com. But I do think it's incorrect to say that everything on Evidence.com will be on Relativity. I think that those two platforms exist because some things are better hosted on Evidence.com.

MS. HALIM: And thank you for that. I'm sure that it was my mistake.

And I will say the government, for the most part, had been very helpful as it pertains to answering questions in a very timely and prompt manner and is pointing me in useful directions.

That being said, the pace and the quantity, the volume of the productions, utilizing different methods of producing the volume of material, I just want to flag for the Court that although I have been keeping up with inventorying and indexing what's coming in, I haven't necessarily had an opportunity to click on it, view it myself to make sure that it downloaded properly, that the content is there.

I mean, it's been several months of literally just getting almost daily, certainly weekly productions. We get productions through USAFx, which is a file-sharing system, which puts the onus on the recipient to then download that material. Most of it can't go -- well, much of it can download directly to a hard drive and computer, but a lot of it, because of the volume, has to be external hard drives. That's one source of information.

The Evidence.com, which I now realize I do have to go back to and find a workable way to get through all that material, I have not yet experienced the Relativity database. I am very hopeful that it's going to be a user-friendly platform to quickly get through a lot of materials. I'm signed up for a training session next Tuesday, March 8th, and so I certainly will bring to the Court's attention immediately if I have any problems.

But I just want to flag for the Court that although we have had access to the discovery because the government is producing it and I believe in good faith, I have no reason to suggest otherwise, but just because of the massive volume and the difficulties with the different types of materials, just because we've had it doesn't mean we've necessarily had an opportunity to really review it at length.

I'd also like to touch briefly on the Cellebrite cell phone extractions, the mirroring process, so to speak, that USCR process that Ms. Rakoczy referenced earlier, it is a complete copy of a cell phone, like in some way, but you're taking a very interactive electronic device and basically converting that into text or code that can be read by the Cellebrite program.

So as Mr. Rhodes' counsel said, it is like having a stack of paper to go through a cell phone, and that's not easy. Whether you're looking at it on your computer or whether you're looking at it on a piece of paper, it's very different from being on a device where you click on the message app, for example, and you get messages.

You know, with the Cellebrite reports, you have to search for the message and then there's a lot of deciphering, who's the sender, who's the recipient. 2 So I just say all of that to flag for the Court 3 that, yes, we have a lot of materials, we have had a lot of 4 materials for a long time, but it has been, and I don't 5 think I'm using hyperbole to say, it's been a full-time job 6 just navigating what we have, where it's from, what it 7 pertains to, is it global, is it case-specific. 8 And so I will keep the Court apprised if I believe 9 there are any issues with getting to the meat and the 10 substance as I prepare for trial. But that could be a potential reason that the Court hasn't heard about all of 11 12 this before, is that even though we've had it, it's not 13 been -- it's not necessarily been digested. 14 THE COURT: Okay. 15 Understood. All right. Let me turn to 16 Mr. Weinberg on behalf of Mr. Moerschel. 17 MR. WEINBERG: Good morning, Your Honor. 18 Scott Weinberg for Mr. Moerschel. 19 Judge, we have access to Evidence.com. I've been 20 in contact with Deloitte; they sent me an email on Tuesday; 21 that they're going to get my account started, so I've filed 22 the licensing paperwork, just waiting for the response. 23 Judge, I would just only echo the other concerns of the other attorneys before we spoke. There is a lot of 24 discovery.

I will be ready for July if the Court sets us for I'd also be ready and would prefer the September date. But either way, we'll be ready. And that's all I have, Your Honor. THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Ulrich? I'm sorry, Mr. Balbo on behalf of Mr. Ulrich? MR. BALBO: Yes. Good afternoon, Your Honor. I would echo what co-counsel has said in this case, my colleagues. I am signed up with Evidence.com. I've been making my way through Evidence.com. Relativity.com, my application is pending. I was told that I will have access in time for a training session which is scheduled for next week. The government has been responsive. Ms. Rakoczy has been very responsive whenever I've sent her requests. In fact, I'm sending back one of the hard drives they had sent before just because I have everything updated that has been posted to USAfx. I do find that it is difficult when the government updates USAfx, it's difficult to ascertain what is the new material, and then sometimes you end up re-downloading things that you've downloaded before, and that makes the process more cumbersome.

1.3

So that's why I'm sending her that hard drive back so maybe I can get a fresh copy, make sure I have everything up to this point.

I do think the big issue, Judge, is the ability to have full functionality with Relativity.com database. I am concerned that other defense counsel have mentioned that it's not necessarily populated with everything yet. I think that if it's fully functional, I think that that would solve much of our problems, that we can search for what applies to our respective clients. So that is, I think, the greatest issue.

I understand the government has an ongoing duty to turn over discovery, but I am concerned that we're hearing about another one to two months with some additional information, so that gives me some pause as to how much is still left out there.

If the Court directs us to go to trial in July,

I guess I would echo what Mr. Weinberg said, that we can be ready to go there, but I am just concerned about how much discovery might still be outstanding and whether or not Relativity will have the full functionality to make our searches more efficient, Your Honor. Those are the concerns that I have.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Balbo.

Mr. Fischer on behalf of Mr. Caldwell.

MR. FISCHER: Thank you, Your Honor.

I do have a number of issues to bring up based on -- the group has had some meetings, and I'm going to raise some issues on behalf of the group.

I'd first point out that I have applied for my licenses. I've been on Relativity. Your Honor, I've gone through — basically — Your Honor, I would basically say, it's difficult, I'm listening to the attorneys speak and I've heard the attorneys in the other case, and I think it's been very difficult for counsel to put into words how difficult this discovery process is.

And I know the Court probably looks at this, and typically when lawyers complain about voluminous discovery, it's, you know, we have busy trial calendars and lots of discovery and cases. But this is not a situation where the defense attorneys are dragging their feet.

Your Honor, if this was a situation 15 years ago where we used to have boxes and boxes of discovery dropped off at our office and we had paper copies and we had DVDs to look at, all the discovery would be reviewed, and we'd be ready for trial, I'd be ready for trial tomorrow.

Your Honor, Mr. Caldwell, among other things, he actually is a former computer software developer. And he finds what the government's turning over -- they're turning over lots of stuff, they're being very cooperative,

Ms. Rakoczy is being very responsive, we have no problems with her responsiveness.

But to give the Court an example, the cell phones. It comes over on Cellebrite. Every time we have to download or try to look at my client's cell phone data, it takes two to three hours for it to load up on a computer. And we've tried three different computers. I bought a computer just to try to put it up. I've gone to Best Buy, and the Geek Squad can't get it down any faster. And this is for most of the discovery.

And I have a feeling, Your Honor, the attorneys — a lot of attorneys don't necessarily want to basically confess to, perhaps, the obvious — maybe the issues that we're having because they don't want to, perhaps, look technologically — as technologically ignorant as I am, but I actually have a computer software developer, former, as my client, and we are finding it extremely difficult.

THE COURT: So, Mr. Fischer, you'll forgive me for interrupting.

Some of your colleagues have expressed these same sentiments, and so I understand them. And I guess the question is what all of this is going to mean. I don't know that I can resolve that today.

But if -- because I've actually got the other case that's supposed to start at 2:00 and it's now 2:05. And so if there are things you want to raise with me that no one else has raised, I'm happy to hear that.

MR. FISCHER: Thank you, Your Honor. I will move along.

On the issue -- and I want to be -- if I could be very brief on the need why we need to have Mr. Caldwell's cell phone. Because this is a conspiracy allegation, we need to know things like when Mr. Caldwell, to any extent, was on a telegraph app, on a Signal app, these are not things that we can find out through a copy of the phone, we need the actual phone to find out that information. That's not part of the discovery, number one. We don't get voicemails, we don't find out whether voicemails were answered or not answered, which is very important to see if he was in contact with certain people the government is characterizing as co-conspirators.

I'd also point out, Your Honor, through discovery, we're also concerned that -- we're concerned that my client's phone -- that it may have been -- being wiretapped without a warrant. And we believe that that's the case based on information that we have reviewed in discovery regarding my client's wife's cell phone, that it may have been wiretapped without a warrant, and we need

Mr. Caldwell's phone to make a determination as to whether that took place. So those are additional concerns.

Your Honor, finally I would make the final point in talking with counsel. Your Honor, we have -- in this trial group, I think we have two court-appointed attorneys, and I believe the rest of the attorneys are, like myself, privately retained. For all intents and purposes, even the defendants who have privately retained attorneys, for all intents and purposes, are indigent because, quite frankly, there's no way that any person could pay the potential legal bills in a case like this.

Your Honor, I think if the Court wants to have a trial date, and I don't see how July is really practical for my client and these other attorneys, but if the Court wants a trial date as quickly as possible, I believe there needs to be a discussion regarding, perhaps, funding for paralegals, for a technical expert, perhaps even additional attorneys that are court-appointed to be involved to help the defense team.

And I know I talked with the two -- with Ms. Halim and Mr. Guillaume about this, and we raised that issue and I think that's something that we're concerned about, is getting more resources, if we really want to have the ability to have this trial take place in an expeditious fashion.

THE COURT: So, Mr. Fischer, let me just say the following, which is that: You are not going to have any obstacle from me if that's something you need and something you're seeking.

What I would urge you to do is to get in touch with Mr. Kramer, our Federal Public Defender, and talk to him about what can be done and what can be worked out.

You know, it's a little bit outside of my -- I sort of approve the vouchers, but the whole -- the process of who gets appointed, how many get appointed, you know, for what purposes, all of that sort of operates at the first level with him and his office.

So what I would urge you all to do, either individually or more likely collectively, is to approach him sooner rather than later and tell him what your needs, what your clients' circumstances are financially and make the case for why CJA funds ought to be made available for this team. And, you know, with his blessing, you know, you're not going to get any pushback from me for that, okay?

MR. FISCHER: Thank you, Your Honor; I appreciate the Court's comments.

THE COURT: Okay.

All right. Let me finally turn to Mr. Peed on behalf of Mr. Vallejo.

Mr. Peed.

MR. PEED: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

2.2.

I have licenses for both Evidence.com and Relativity; however, there's some sort of mismatch on my Evidence.com account, where no discovery pops up. I think maybe my account is linked to a prior case or something.

Relativity has so many steps of verification that each -- there's been a series of one of them not working, and I've been working with technical people. So while I have a license and I have successfully set up the token as one of the issues, I still have not actually gotten into it, but I expect that to be something we can work out with the technical people. That's the status of those two.

I appreciate the Court's comments about the relatively late entry of Mr. Vallejo and Mr. Rhodes, and so I would certainly ask to be in at least the September date.

THE COURT: Okay.

All right. Before we adjourn with respect to everyone, I've got some individual matters to take up with a couple of the defendants.

It occurred to me that I don't think I've actually issued a Pretrial Order for the July trial, and I intend to do that by Monday. As to who it applies to, obviously, that remains to be seen, but you all ought to be thinking — moving forward with these dates in mind.

The most immediate date that is upcoming is a date for additional Rule 12 motions. And so as was the case in Caldwell, in the earlier case, regardless of which trial you are slotted into, that Rule 12 date, at least as it relates to any global motions, that would be, for example, motions seeking to dismiss any charges or requests with respect to suppression, et cetera, although that may be in a different category, but basically bottom line is that, you know, you don't want to be -- if you end up in a second trial group, I'd urge you to think about what motions you want to file sooner rather than later, because you don't want to be on the end of a decision that I've already made with respect to another motion and not had your opportunity to say your piece. So I'll get that order out by Monday after I've had a chance to chance reflect on the dates. So that will be forthcoming, okay? All right. I just need to -- I need Mr. Rhodes, I need Mr. -- I'm sorry, Mr. Bright and Mr. Linder and Mr. Geyer and Mr. Moseley to just hang on. Everybody else -- oh, sorry, we need to set a next date. MR. PEED: Your Honor, may I make a --THE COURT: Now that the other trial -- I'm sorry? MR. here, it certainly would be easier for the defense to make a supression-type motion, with more of a focused proffer from the government of its trial evidence, which, of course, I'm sure will be something that will be in real-time rolling forward.

So, you know, I think motions to dismiss, I would propose to the Court, sort of separate those from suppression motions and entertain at least a possibility of future suppression motions as the government's case becomes more focused.

THE COURT: Look, I say this to defense counsel in all cases, and I understand the fluid nature of defenses and motions that might need to be filed as a result of things the government does or, frankly, things that occur to the defense later in time.

My point is simply this, which is that, to the extent that there are, much like we had in Caldwell, motions challenging the legal sufficiency of charges challenging the constitutionality of statutes, challenging the indictment in other respects, you know, those aren't evidence-dependent-type motions.

So I would urge you all to be thinking about those collectively and make those motions collectively, because, as I said, you know, you don't want to be somebody who's on the back end of one of these motions and I've already ruled and I'm unlikely to change my mind, okay?

               How does April 7th at 1:30 p.m. -- hopefully that 3 works for everyone.
 4
               JC, do we have time with -- well, I quess we're 5 going to have them here, so it won't matter.
 6
               MR. BRIGHT: I function from the presumption that 7
     that's Eastern Time, correct, sir?
 8
               THE COURT: Yes, Eastern Time. Yes, Mr. Bright.
 9
               MR. BRIGHT: Absolutely no problem, Your Honor.
10
               THE COURT:
                          Okay.
11
               MR. CRISP: Your Honor, this is Jonathan Crisp.
12
               I'm scheduled for trial that week in other federal 13
     District Court trials in Pennsylvania, so I would not be 14 available during the week of the 4th through the 7th of 15
     April.
16
               THE COURT:
                          I'm sorry, you're in trial what week?
17
               MR. CRISP:
                          The 4th -- the days of 4 through 7
18
     April, Judge.
19
               My understanding is you said 7 April.
20
               THE COURT: Yeah, I did.
21
               How about -- I can adjust my schedule around a 22 little bit. How about 10:00 a.m. on the 8th of April?
23
               MR. LINDER: That's fine for us, Your Honor.
24
               THE COURT: Okay. So 10:00 a.m. on the 8th of 25
     April.

Mr. Crisp, if your trial runs on to that date,
 1
 2 you'll just have to let me know and we'll figure out what to 3
     do from there.
 4
               MR. CRISP:
                           I may have a -- I was going to say, if 5
     I could have the Court's permission to have a proxy from my 6 office, another attorney who's working but not entered his 7 appearance, that probably would be fine.
 8
               THE COURT:
                          That would be fine by me.
 9
               MR. CRISP:
                          Okay.
10
               THE COURT: As long as whoever that is has the 11 authority to speak on your behalf.
12
               So everyone other than the three counsel that 1.3
     I just identified is free to leave. Nice to see everybody.
14
     We'll see you in about a month.
15
               MS. RAKOCZY: Your Honor?
               MR. BALBO: May I ask a quick question,
16
17
     Your Honor, before we leave?
18
               A.J. Balbo for Mr. Ulrich.
19
               I believe you addressed this once before.
20 out of an abundance of caution, those of us who are in the 21
     Caldwell case, all of those motions and the Court's rulings, 2.2.
     those all carry over to the Rhodes case; is that correct?
23
               THE COURT: That is correct. That's correct.
24
               Hang on.
25
               (Pause)
```

1 Sorry, I'm just checking on speedy 2 trial tolling. 3 I'm told we're only tolled through today. Do any 4 defense counsel object to tolling through the next status 5 hearing on April the 11th? 6 MR. LINDER: No, Your Honor. 7 MR. FISCHER: No, Your Honor. 8 THE COURT: Okay. 9 Hearing no objections, I will find that -- and 10 exclude time through April the 8th, as the ends of justice 11 outweigh the interests of the public and the defendants in a 12 speedy trial; specifically, as has been stated quite 1.3 robustly during this hearing, the government continues to 14 provide discovery to the defense, and the defense continues 15 to make efforts to review that discovery and to share that 16 discovery with their clients and to prepare for trial, and 17 for all of those reasons, as well as to ensure the effective 18 assistance of counsel for trial, the exclusion of time will 19 be -- I will exclude time through April the 8th. 20 Thank you, everybody. Okay. 21 Counsel for Mr. Rhodes, Harrelson, and Meggs, 22 please just hang on and we'll get wrapped up in a moment. 23 Okay. Mr. Linder and Mr. Bright, just quickly two 24 things on behalf of Mr. Rhodes. The first concerns his 25 place of detention. You had asked last time we were together to have him remain in Oklahoma, and what I said to 2 you -- and the government at the time said it did not 3 object.

 4
               What I said at the time was that I would sort of 5 defer to our Marshals Service on that. And I have made 6 inquiries with them about this multiple times. And what 7
     I can tell you is that I am not going to be in a position to 8 grant the request that he stay where he is. And as I said, 9
     I'm deferring to our Marshals Service and their reasons for 10 wanting them where they'd like him to be. So that's not 11 something I'll be able to do. And to the extent that there 12 is an order in place to keep him there, I'm going to lift 1.3
     that order, okay?
14
               MR. LINDER: Understood.
15
               THE COURT: In terms of an issue -- 16
               MR. LINDER: Ms. Rakoczy and I have spoken about 17 that issue also.
18
               THE COURT: I'm sorry, Mr. Linder?
19
               MR. LINDER: Ms. Rakoczy and I have spoken about 20 that issue also.
                      We understand.
21
               THE COURT: All right. Terrific.
22
               One other issue that implicates Mr. Moseley.
23
     We had talked about his representation of Mr. Rhodes in 24 connection with the January 6th commission, and perhaps more 25 broadly prior to his arrest. And I know both lawyers on behalf of Mr. Meggs and Mr. Rhodes filed essentially waivers.

1.3

That's helpful, but I'm not fully -- I would like a more thorough and comprehensive record made of this. And that's for my own purposes. This not a suggestion that either counsel has done anything more than what's required.

But as I have done in the past with respect to conflicts that have arisen in this case, there is —
I'm going to rely on a conflicts counsel to reach out to government counsel, to defense counsel, who are implicated in all of this — not implicated, that's the wrong word, but who are — as to whom this is relevant, and discuss the issues with you, and then, perhaps, have a conversation with your clients to satisfy themselves that they have — that the clients are fully advised about potential conflicts that might arise as a result of Mr. Moseley's prior representation, maybe even concurrent representation, it's not clear to me the scope of what he's doing, of Mr. Rhodes. So expect phone calls from Andrew Wise of Miller & Chevalier and Mary Lou Soller of Miller & Chevalier as early as next week so that process will move forward, okay?

So that's it on behalf of Mr. Rhodes.

And if Mr. Linder and Mr. Bright wish to sign off, you are welcome to do so. Thank you, gentlemen.

MR. LINDER: Sure.

1 THE COURT: All right. 2 Mr. Geyer, there is a pending motion for review of 3 your client's bond status. Last we were together, you had indicated you wanted to put that on hold, and I just want to 4 5 make sure that that's still the case? 6 MR. GEYER: Thank you for asking me, Your Honor; 7 I very much appreciate that. 8 What I would propose is that, I've been trying to 9 pull together information for supplemental discovery 10 requests that involves a lot of work reviewing video that, 11 as I mentioned before, only recently came to my attention, 12 and I'm hoping to get some consensus among the defense 1.3 counsel for judicial economy purposes, among others, and 14 then also try to come up with some kind of a consensus with 15 the government before I file anything. After I'm able to 16 file that, I would take a look at whether I should raise 17 that with the Court again --18 THE COURT: Okay. 19 MR. GEYER: -- if the Court would be favorably 20 disposed to consider a motion then. 21 THE COURT: Okay. 22 That's fine, Mr. Geyer. I just wanted to make 23 sure that that was not -- that I wasn't supposed to be doing 24 something I'm supposed to do. 25 Now, that was the only issue I wanted to Okay.

raise with you, Mr. Geyer, on behalf of Mr. Harrelson.

So that leaves Mr. Moseley, and there are a couple of pending motion that Mr. Moseley's filed. The first was the motion for subpoena that we talked about last time we were together. And, Mr. Moseley, you said to me that you were going to file a reply. I don't think one was filed. And so I guess the question to you is, is that still a motion you need for me to consider or are you in a different place than when that motion was filed?

MR. MOSELEY: Well, I'm in a different place at least in terms of the fact that it was for a different date. So those would all probably have to be re-done.

And so I guess the best thing to do is, because really I don't know at this point what the date is going to be, to call them -- I probably should refile all of that.

THE COURT: Okay.

All right. Well, I leave it to you to do that then and I'll take that up in due course.

The other pending motion that you filed is a motion relating to grand jury evidence, and -- or I shouldn't say grand jury evidence but grand jury minutes, grand jury instructions, essentially anything that's not grand jury testimony is how I interpreted the scope of that motion.

You know, I read the motion, Mr. Moseley. And, you know, I'm not convinced that you've made the case, the 1 2 very high standard of substantial need for the type of grand 3 jury records that you're seeking. 4 I mean, to the extent that there's suggestions of 5 evidentiary discrepancies between what's been alleged or 6 what's on the public record, it seems to me all of that sort 7 of just goes to your defense and isn't necessarily supportive of any -- or indicative of any wrongdoing by 8 9 government counsel before the grand jury. You know, the 10 disclosure of those type of records is quite rare. 11 I understand that you're getting most of the 12 testimony, in fact, much earlier than in my own pretrial 13 order will provide for, and so it seems to me at this 14 juncture I'm not prepared to grant the motion, okay? 15 All right. Thank you, all. Unless there's 16 anything else, we'll be adjourned and see everybody in about 17 30 days. 18 Thank you, everyone. 19 (Proceedings concluded at 2:24 p.m.) 20 21 22 23 24 25
